Dr. and Mrs. Moriarty Escape Injury.

Dr. and Mrs. James L. Moriarty, of Waterbury, the former the son of Mrs. James Moriarty of Norwich, had a narrow escape from serious injuries last Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, when their automobile ran into an iron fence on the corner of Bank and Grand streets, Waterbury. Both escaped injury.

The accident happened, The Waterbury Republican says, when the Hudson coupe which Dr. Moriarty's wife was driving, approached the corner of Grand street. She wanted to drive down Bank street. A jitney backed out of the jitney stand at the same moment, and in order to avoid hitting the latter, the driver of the coupe swerved her machine towards the fence. The fence was torn down, leaving a large hole and bending the steel considerably. The fender of the automobile was damaged.

AVON MISSION CHURCH BUILT BY PRIEST FROM PUTNAM

At Avon Sunday morning the new Catholic church was dedicated. From far and near people came to the opening of the new St. Ann church. There is an interesting story in connection with the name. It was built on land given by Mr. and Mrs. William G. Menon and his land is part of the wedding gift made by a Marquis Sheridan to her son, William. So her name is perpetuated and honored in the new church.

The task of erecting a Catholic church in Avon seemed at first most too great to be undertaken and the fact that it has been pushed to completion evidences the generosity of the people. Catholics and Protestants contributing alike generously. It cost about $7,000 and of this sum there remains slightly over $3,000 to be raised.

Avon, an outgrowth from Collinsville, was attended by William F. Kennedy, who was appointed to the latter place about seven years ago. Father Kennedy was born in Putnam 48 years ago the son of Thomas and Margaret Kennedy. Having been graduated at St. Mary's parochial school at Putnam, he attended St. Charles college near Baltimore, graduating with the class of 1892. After five years he returned to Putnam, where he was appointed pastor of the parish of St. Ann, 1897 by His Eminence Cardinal Gibbons, archbishop of Baltimore. Before being assigned to Collinsville, Father Kennedy acted as assistant pastor at St. Thomas church, Waterbury, and at the Church of Our Lady of Mercy, Plainville.

RAILROAD BANDITS IN JAIL TO AWAIT COURT TRIAL

George Potter, 25, his brother, James, 23, and Tony Cabral, 19, were arrested Sunday morning at Niantic by railroad detectives when the two men were trying to hold up a freight train before the police court in New London Monday morning. The case went over to next Saturday, bonds being fixed at $2,500. This was because Captain Edward Roach, one of the two railroad policemen who made the arrest, could not be at court Monday.

George Potter and Tony Cabral were the two bandits arrested on the train. James Potter, 23, brother of one of the bandits, was arrested in connection with several holdups recently perpetrated in the vicinity of New London and confessed to by Cabral. James Potter was arrested by Sergeant Nelson Sims and the railroad detectives at a hotel in Guilford.

The two young robbers boarded the freight train in the vicinity of Niantic Sunday morning and made their way over the tops of the cars to the caboose. The special agents of the railroad who were riding in the caboose noticed the men board the train and when they reached the last car, which was the caboose, they saw the two men climbing over the side. The detectives then invited Potter and Cabral to come ahead. The young bandits surrendered and the detectives proceeded to search them.

While the search was going on, George Potter drew a knife and attempted to slash Detective Roach, but he was also overpowered.

New London Monday the men were taken to the lock up and County Investigator Jackson was called. Under cross examination the men confessed to several recent robberies. Cabral acknowledged that he and James Potter had held up a freight train at Niantic Sunday morning. Cabral pulled a gun and attempted to shoot Detective Green. The latter, however, gave Cabral a swift blow which sent him reeling against one of the windows of the caboose.

While this struggle was going on, George Potter drew a knife and attempted to slash Detective Roach, but he was also overpowered.
